Overview

At the end of the Fall semester, many students living in RIT Housing move-out due to co-op, graduation, study abroad, or other reasons. Everyone living in RIT Housing needs to submit a Winter Break Plan. Students staying for winter break are not required to move their belongings; they simply need to inform RIT Housing of their plans.

Students without a physical key can complete a Self Check-Out through the MyLife Portal. Before proceeding, check with a higher staff to confirm if the Self Check-Out option is live. If it is not live, follow the standard check-out process by scanning their Student ID and ensuring they fill out a Key Return Envelope.

You can refer to the RIT End of Semester and Winter Break Self Check-Out Guide for additional instructions when applicable. Note that, if students do the self-checkout through MyLife, they do not need to fill out an envelope.

1. Key Return Envelope

- Ensure students moving out fill out a Key Return Envelope.
- On the envelope, students must specify their move-out reason.
